

FEEDBACK / COMMENTS ON PROPOSED FEE INCREASES

DOCKET # USCIS-2006-044

United States of America, it's a land of Immigrants. Who would deny that? Well, I am very happy to make a decision to come to the States for my Masters Degree Program and eventually take a job and ultimately deciding to immigrate permanently to the States. Well, let me take a moment to give me real honest feedback on this increase in the fee proposal. I greatly appreciate the fact that USA is a free country (almost..free) and no wonder why it is still one of the dominant powers I the world. I applied for my Green Card in Dec of 2004 and just recently got my labor approved. Well I applied for my I-140 and would eventually get it approved. Well After that I should have to just sit counting ducks due to retrogression issues. Iam completely OK with the increase in filing fees if you can explain to me clearly what the USCIS have been actively doing to do its part in relieving the retrogression related issues. I think this increase in fees is just an other way of making more money without providing basic customer service. I usually get decent customer service when I go to one of those mom and pop stores in the States but not from USCIS. You guys do not hesitate to squeeze us for these hefty fees but yet take months and months to approve one silly labor certification application and I-140 application. Forgot about processing those I-485's. You just take more and more money and give us back less and less if not pathetic customer service. Looks like USCIS is just a profit-oriented organization with no conscience. I am really very dis satisfied with the service you guys provide and I am actually considering to go back home where I was born. I don't see anything you do regarding that retrogression and yet you are very pro active in raising these fees with no absolute regard and conscience, needless to say pathetic customer service you provide. In a democratic country like the USa you guys are just ripping us off with more and more fees just because no one can question you. Honestly, you should feel ashamed. I really, honestly and greatly oppose this fee increase unless you can really make a difference is what you are doing right now. Until then, Adios.

Sincerely yours

Very disappointed Customer of USCIS.
