Subject: my comment

Thank you for giving the opportunity to give my comment on the new 21st immigration service. I think adjusting the fee will be reasonable if it serves immigrants in a fair and timely manner. The problem I have with the current service is the back log in processing applications. For me personally it is affecting my marriage because I have been waiting for a while to be united with my husband. Since my husband is permanent resident it takes longer to process the application than an applicant who is an American citizen.

If the adjustment if the fee improves and accelerates processing applications I totally support it.

Best Regards
