

Immigration should be less costly, not more. The important thing should be such efforts as community service and civics and history classes, not charging people more money. Immigration is already too costly for people. If people want to come into our society, we should welcome them. Our country has always been built on those people.

Illegal immigrants too should be given an easier path to citizenship, in terms of cost, but should have to do community service (no jail time) and study civics and law and english and so on (though english should not be the official language of the US).

Thankyou.

Paul Kane

Sucker-punch spam with award-winning protection.

Try the free Yahoo! Mail Beta.

http://advision.webevents.yahoo.com/mailbeta/features_spam.html