

From: Joe Missildine [mailto:tkd_gold@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 01, 2007 10:48 AM
To: OSComments
Subject: DHS Docket No. USCIS-2006-0044

To Whom This May Concern;

I'm a Social Service Assistant for the Department of the Army and I use to work in Korea. This is an area where a lot of Americans marry foreign nationals esp. Koreans, Philipinos and Russians. I am also married to a Korean National, and she would like to someday become an American citizen.

I think that the fee change will be ok BUT can I make a suggestion?

How about giving our Soldiers of the Armed Forces and the civilians that work under the Department of Defense a break? A lot of our Armed Forces and DOD civilians are living in areas where there are not a lot of other Americans. So in other words maybe either giving them a discount on such fees like half off. Or make less restrictions and/or less documents necessary for spouse's of foreign countries to become American citizens like their Soldier/DOD civilian spouses? Our Soldiers and even some DOD civilians are in harms way every single day and this would be a way of showing our appreciation by allowing their spouses to become citizens without all the hassle/money needed to do this.

Sincerely,

Joe Missildine

Loving is knowing how to live.

Living is knowing how to love! 