DHS Docket No. USCIS-2006-0044

Sirs:

The proposed cost to become a US citizen is far from costly enough.

Thousands of young American men and women have given their lives for the purpose of making America a desirable place to call home, but our politicians propose a cheap path for citizenship to persons that would include millions of "criminal immigrants" who are already living in the United States and working (some at non-tax paying jobs. Let them pay, and pay BIG. The pockets of the American taxpayer have far too often been used to further some poor excuses.

The road to citizenship should be strengthened with provisions of:
Proof of steady legal employment and a productive life in America, and
The ability to do more than walk into a casino and make an attempt at making a bet by means of often misunderstood communication. They should be demanded to learn to communicate in English.

There are far too many areas in the United States where an English speaking American is a foreigner in his/her own land.

One final comment: NO government benefits or assistance of any kind to persons who have entered the United States by illegal methods.

Thank you,

Gregory Munn
