RE: DHS Docket # USCIS-2006-0044

Proposed rule — Adjustment of the Immigration and Naturalization Benefit
Application and Petition Fee Schedule

My name is Rorng Sorn, and I am the Director of Programs for the Cambodian Association of Greater Philadelphia (CAGP), Inc. I am deeply concerned about the proposed USCIS fee increase referenced above.

CAGP is a non-profit, 501 (c)(3) agency formed in 1979. Our mission is to improve the quality of life Cambodian-Americans within the Greater Philadelphia Area by providing services, advocating and empowering them to obtain equal access to social/economic development, as well as to quality healthcare and education. Since our inception, we have developed and implemented many social, educational, and cultural programs aimed at assisting our Cambodian families to become self-sufficient. For the past years our agency has helped hundreds of our community members (most of whom came to the U.S. as refugee due to wars, persecution and starvation) to become naturalized by assisting them with application process, interpretation, and also accompaniment as needed.

We are deeply troubled by the sheer size and scope of the fee increase. USCIS plans to increase citizenship fees from $400 ($330 application fee plus $70 fingerprinting fee) to $675 ($595 application fee plus $80 fingerprinting fee), an increase of 69 percent. It would also raise fees for 37 other immigration and naturalization petitions and applications at an average increase of 66 percent. Furthermore, it appears that the increase will take place at once rather than being spread out over a period of time.

Rapid fee hikes of such magnitude will have a disproportionate and detrimental impact on the Asian American community, especially, the Cambodian community across the U. S. which most of whom are living at or below poverty level. As the following figures reflect, Asian Americans constitute a significant portion of USCIS's customer base.

-39% of people who naturalized in 2005 were born in Asia.

Five of the top ten countries of birth for new U.S. citizens are Asian (Philippines, India, Vietnam, People's Republic of China, and Korea).

-36% of people who became lawful permanent residents (LPRs) in 2005 were born in Asia.

-Five of the top ten countries of birth for new LPRs are Asian (India, China, Philippines, Vietnam, and Korea).

-Significant numbers of asylees and refugees came from Asian countries such as Laos (16 percent of refugees admitted in 2005) and China (21 percent of asylum granted in 2005).

[Insert other statistics or stories relevant to your organization or the particular segment of the Asian American community that you serve.]

The massive and abrupt fee increase proposed by USCIS will delay or prevent Asian Americans from becoming U.S. citizens, reuniting with their families, contributing their knowledge and skills to our economy, and settling into our society after having escaped persecution.

-A family of four LPRs who want to apply for U.S. citizenship at the same time will now have to have $2,700 at their disposal in order to achieve their American dream together.

-A family of four which has been granted asylum in the U.S. and is applying for permanent residence will now need $3,620 in hand in order to apply for permanent residence.

-Furthermore, asylees applying for permanent residence will be ineligible to apply for fee waivers, no matter how dire their financial situation may be, because USCIS intends to categorically eliminate fee waivers for I-485 applications for adjustment as a part of the fee increase.

-The proposal would also prohibit U.S. citizens and LPRs from requesting fee waivers on I-130 relative petitions on the grounds that the petitioners must file affidavits of support to show that they can support their beneficiaries should they be unable to do so themselves.

[Insert other examples of problems that the fee increase and/or the ban on fee waivers may cause you and/or the community you serve.]

The fee hike and the blanket ban on fee waivers on certain applications and petitions would be particularly burdensome to the roughly 12 percent of the Asian American community which lives below the poverty level.

Given the speed, scope and scale of the proposed fee increase, we believe that USCIS customers must receive faster, greater, and more concrete improvements in processing times and customer service. The fee increase proposal itself does not appear to set forth any concrete targets for improvement in these areas.

Finally, we believe that certain improvements which the USCIS wants to finance through the fee increase would be better addressed through the normal budget and appropriations process. For instance, while we support USCIS's efforts to improve its fraud detection capacity and to modernize its business and technological infrastructure, we do not believe that immigrants and their families should bear the sole burden for these efforts.

In conclusion, we urge USCIS to reconsider the proposed fee increase. We hope that the agency will work with immigrant communities, and with Congress, to develop a functioning, effective immigration system that will benefit our country.

Sincerely,

Rorng Sorn
