

From: Scott Murphy [mailto:sdmurphy@verizon.net]
Sent: Thursday, February 01, 2007 3:15 AM
To: OSComments
Subject: No. USCIS-2006-0044

DHS,

As a US citizen and of ancestry that came here long ago, I think the increase in fees says that American citizenship is for sale. I think it sends the wrong message, while the US is trying to pass a guest worker program which would provide those here illegal a means to basically jump in front of the line while the US wants to increase fees which are pursuing a legal way to come to the US.

Perhaps the DHS/US Gov should worry about the illegal's that are coming here and spreading disease, overcrowding and becoming an economic burden on society while the being a US citizen is meaningless and our US politicians don't care about what the people want. It is more important to pander to the Mexican government and forcing the American people to take in there people when there system is to corrupt or unwilling to fix there own problems.

Thank you,

Mr. Murphy