We are currently in the process of adopting a child, and hope to do so again. While it is impossible to 'put a price' on what it is worth to add a child to our family, and to bring them out of an orphanage and into a loving home; the high price of adoption does cause some people to hesitate to consider taking this step, when they would otherwise joyfully do so.

Adoption is expensive enough already, and it is unconscionable to raise fees by up to 66% for adoption-related petitions. Please reconsider this fee increase.
